Colóquio Internacional - Da evangelização da África à África evangelizadora: Mediações missionárias em África e a partir de África, FLUP, Porto, Portugal

Desde os primeiros contactos, ainda no século XV, que a presença europeia no continente africano se fez acompanhar por campanhas missionárias. Assegurada num primeiro momento e em largo espectro pelas Ordens e Congregações Religiosas católicas, a ação missionária vai lentamente obtendo resultados, traduzíveis numa presença que se pretendia mais estável e institucionalizada (de que a pontual ereção de dioceses poderá ser um indicador).

Em paralelo assistir-se-á à entrada em campo de missionários de outras confissões cristãs, aduzindo à evangelização de África a tônica de pluralidade confessional que o cristianismo ganhara na Europa a partir do séc. XVI. Ao entrar no séc. XX, no entanto, apenas 10% da África era cristã. Hoje podemos dizer que cerca de metade o é. O sucesso dessa expansão resultou fundamentalmente do facto de muitos dos africanos convertidos se terem transformado em missionários procedendo a uma readaptação cultural da mensagem.

Três fatores contribuíram para a missionação a partir de dentro: a abolição da escravatura, o retorno de missionários à Europa durante a I Guerra Mundial, a forte expansão (neo)pentecostal desde os finais do século XX até à atualidade, onde o importante contributo brasileiro deve ser considerado.

O estudo das ações e mediações missionárias suscitou uma vigorosa produção científica na área das ciências sociais, de modo especial da antropologia, sobretudo a partir do fim da Segunda Guerra Mundial, acontecimento que acelerou a descolonização de muitos países africanos.

Este congresso tem como objetivo central refletir sobre as diferentes modalidades de evangelização em África, desde os seus frágeis inícios até ao forte incremento do século XIX e deste até à atualidade pós colonial e globalizada e a respetiva interação com outros domínios da realidade africana.

Colóquio Internacional 'Conhecimento e Ciência colonial', St. Catharines, Ontario, Canada

O Colóquio internacional Conhecimento e Ciência Colonial resulta de uma parceria entre o Centro de Filosofia das Ciências da Universidade de Lisboa e o Centro de História do Instituto de Investigação Científica Tropical.

A relação entre a ciência pós-Iluminista e a questão do progresso, do desenvolvimento e da modernização, trouxe um debate cada vez mais intenso sobre os conceitos, valores, ações e consequências da sua prática num contexto colonial que pretende explorar a reciprocidade e proximidade entre o Estado-nação moderno e a ciência e as suas instituições. Será que existiu uma 'ciência colonial'? A transversalidade destas questões inscreve-as num contexto transnacional e transdisciplinar no qual a análise do contributo da ciência no contexto colonial pode ter um papel estruturante no quadro do debate sobre a construção de um conhecimento específico.

Neste contexto, o Colóquio privilegiará uma abordagem transdisciplinar que permita lançar um olhar global sobre estas questões, incentivar a sua discussão e aumentar a sua visibilidade no quadro de um interesse alargado e consciência crescente da sua importância e dos seus contributos.

As propostas estão abertas até dia 5 de Julho.

GAPSYM7: Africa and Food: Challenges, Risks and Opportunities, Ghent, Belgium

Call for papers of the 7th annual symposium of the Africa Platform of Ghent University Association, entitled “Africa and Food: challenges, risks and opportunities”.

Food and Africa often seem to be closely linked, though only on a very superficial level: Africa is either associated with a lack of food and famine, or with gastronomy and the cultivation of exotic fruits.

By organizing an international conference on Africa and Food, the Africa Platform of Ghent University Association will look beyond such superficial connotations.

Its aim is to contribute to the scholarly debate in which food is not only seen in terms of problematic situations in Africa, but also and primarily in terms of new challenges and opportunities that have emerged in the area.

At this conference we propose twelve different panels, addressing the theme of food in Africa from a wide variety of different research domains. Food will be seen as one of Africa’s richest resources, be it on a cultural, linguistic, historical or biological level. Food will be conceptualized as an element of psychosocial well-being, of political stability and of basic human rights. And others.

Paper proposals (abstract of maximum 300 words) can be submitted until the 1st of July 2013.

From the Great Transformation to the Great Financialization. On Karl Polanyi and Other Essays

Four years into the unfolding of the most serious crisis since the 1930s, Karl Polanyi's prediction of the fateful consequences of unleashing the destructive power of unregulated market capitalism on peoples, nations, and the natural environment has assumed new urgency and relevance. Polanyi's insistence that 'the self-regulating market' must be made subordinate to democracy, otherwise society itself may be put at risk, is as true today as it was when Polanyi wrote.

Written from the unique perspective of his daughter, From the Great Transformation to the Great Financialization is an essential contribution to our understanding of the evolution and contemporary significance of Karl Polanyi's work, and should be read against the background of the accelerating accumulation of global finance that created a series of financial crises in Latin America, Russia, Asia, and, eventually, the heartlands of capitalism itself.

Reclaiming the F Word. Feminism Today

Feminism is so last century. Surely in today's world the idea is irrelevant and unfashionable?

Wrong. Since the turn of the millennium a revitalised feminist movement has emerged to challenge these assumptions.

Based on a survey of over a thousand feminists, Reclaiming the F Word reveals the what, why and how of today's feminism, from cosmetic surgery to celebrity culture, from sex to singleness and now, in this new edition, the gendered effects of possibly the worst economic crisis ever.

This is a generation-defining book demanding nothing less than freedom and equality, for all.

Pan-Africanism and Communism. The Communist International, Africa and the Diaspora, 1919-1939

Based on new materials from the archives of the Communist International in Moscow as well as other established sources, Professor Hakim Adi has given us the very first book that explains the history and activities of The International Trade Union Committee of Negro Workers (ITUCNW) in relation to the attainment of black emancipation, the role of such leading figures as George Padmore, the nuanced discussions within the communist movement on Pan Africanism and how to attain liberation from colonial domination.

The book abounds with new insights, original reflections, fresh interpretation and new conclusions on what was generally called the Negro Question.

Christianity and the African Imagination. Essays in Honour of Adrian Hastings

During the twentieth-century, Christendom shifted its centre of gravity to the Southern Hemisphere, Africa becoming the most significant area of church growth. This volume explores Christianity's advance across the continent, and its capturing of the African imagination.

From the medieval Catholic Kingdom of Kongo to a transnational Pentecostal movement in post-colonial Zimbabwe, the chapters explore how African agents - priests and prophets, martyrs and missionaries, evangelists and catechists - have seized Christianity and made it theirs.

Emphasizing popular religion, the book shows how the Christian ideas and texts, practices and symbols, which have been adapted by Africans, help them accept existential passions and empower them through faith to deal with material concerns for health and wealth, and to overcome evil.

Long Journeys. African Migrants on the Road

Trapped inside lorries or huddled aboard unseaworthy boats, irregular African migrants make for troubling headlines in western media, fueling fever pitch fears of an impending "African exodus" to Europe.

Despite the increasing, albeit sensational, attention irregular migration attracts on both sides of the Mediterranean, little is known about what shapes and influences the lives of these Africans before, during, and after their "migratory projects."

By privileging migrants' narratives and drawing on evidence-based field research from different disciplinary backgrounds, the volume demystifies ... read more and dislodges many common assumptions about the human ecology of irregular African migration to Europe, arguably one of the most widely debated, yet least understood, phenomenon of our time.

African Dynamics in a Multipolar World

Fifty years after the foundation of the OAU and the consolidation of most African states and institutions, the international panorama and Africa's position in it have changed considerably.

The world's geopolitical and economic configuration has evolved, with new actors appearing in a new period of globalization. In tune with ECAS 2013, this volume proposes that the experiences appearing in Africa question dominant paradigms in terms of political practice and academic reflection and thus offer a clear challenge to the academic community.

The volume offers clues to answer questions such as: ... read moreWhat is the impact of the current processes of globalization for African countries and African citizens? How should African Studies be engaged to gauge African dynamics, both at a local and global level? and many others.

The Arabic Influence on Northern Berber

The Arabic Influence on Northern Berber provides an overview of the effects of language contact on a wide array of Berber languages spoken in the Maghrib.

These languages have undergone important changes in their lexicon, phonology, morphology, and syntax as a result of over a thousand years of Arabic influence.

The social situation of Berber-Arabic language contact is similar all over the region: Berber speakers introducing Arabic features into their language, with only little language shift going on.

Moreover, the typological profile of the different Berber varieties is relatively ... read morehomogenous. The comparison of contact-induced change in Berber therefore adds up to a study in typological variation of contact influence under very similar linguistic and social conditions.

South African AIDS Activism and Global Health Politics

What did South African AIDS activists contribute, politically, to early international advocacy for free HIV medicines for the world's poor? Mandisa Mbali demonstrates that South Africa's Treatment Action Campaign (TAC) gave moral legitimacy to the international movement which enabled it to effectively push for new models of global health diplomacy and governance. The TAC rapidly acquired moral credibility, she argues, because of its leaders' anti-apartheid political backgrounds, its successful human rights-based litigation and its effective popularization of AIDS-related science.

The country's arresting democratic transition in 1994 enabled South African activists to form transnational alliances. Its new Constitution provided novel opportunities for legal activism, such as the TAC's advocacy against multinational pharmaceutical companies and the South African government.

Creating Postcolonial Literature. African Writers and British Publishers

Creating Postcolonial Literature examines the publishing of African literature in the postcolonial period. Its focus is the largely forgotten Three Crowns series by Oxford University Press (1962-1976), which was the vehicle for the publication of Wole Soyinka and Athol Fugard, along with many other major African writers, including Lewis Nkosi, John Pepper Clark, Obi Egbuna, Oswald Mtshali, Joe de Graft and Leopold Sédar Senghor.

It addresses the construction of literary value, the relationships between African writers and British publishers, and the critical importance of the African marketplace in the development of African literature during this period. Based on new archival research, it assesses the institutions of postcolonial literary publishing on both a macro and micro level, by combining a thorough analysis of the historical, political and economic context of British publishing in Africa in this period with detailed author case studies.

Current African Issues

CAI 52 | Musical Violence: Gangsta Rap and Politics in Sierra Leone: Hip Hop has become a global force in recent years. However, when taken up by youth outside its American birthplace, it is often dismissed as a shallow adaptation or imitation of American popular culture. However, its global popularity cannot be questioned, and its proliferation is aided by its adaptability to local contexts. It has become associated with an emergent youth political identity in many parts of the world, a result of its ability to embody rebellious youth energy.

Hip Hop is a new global lingua franca for youth rebellion that exists beyond the boundaries of the state, and is aided by the emergence of the internet and accompanying communications technologies. Analysis of the political ramifications of Hip Hop in West African societies is vital to gaining a true sense of what democracy means in the local context. This paper focuses on the West African country of Sierra Leone, and explores how youth participation in Hip Hop there is a radical political project.

Discussion Paper

DP 76 | The African Union in Light of the Arab Revolts: An appraisal of the foreign policy and security objectives of South Africa, Ethiopia and Algeria: The fall of authoritarian regimes in Tunisia, Egypt and Libya has changed political dynamics on the African continent. One immediate concern has been the implications of these developments for the African Union (AU) and its member states.

Would overall political dynamics in the AU be changed? Would the most powerful member states use the altered circumstances to enhance their influence on AU policies and frameworks? What would the impact be for the AU's overall authority?

In this Discussion Paper series, three edited papers are presented that tackle AU political and institutional dynamics in light of the Arab revolts. A particular puzzle addressed is the current postures of South Africa, Ethiopia and Algeria within the AU.

Light and Power for a Multiracial Nation

The Kariba Dam, stretching across the Zambezi River between today's Zambia and Zimbabwe, was one of the most famous development projects in Africa in the late 1950s.

As a producer of abundant and cheap power, Kariba was to boost the economy of the newly established Central African Federation.

The book shows how the dam project crystallised both the hopes and the flaws of the Federation, a highly controversial experiment of 'multi-racial' nation-building by which the British colonial power meant to appease both settler and African aspirations for independence.

The author sketches the perspectives of a great variety of people involved in the Kariba project, including World Bank experts, colonial administrators, the local population, nationalist politicians, and the workers building the dam.

The History and Practice of Humanitarian Intervention and Aid in Africa

Ambitious humanitarian military, economic and social interventions, undertaken by Western actors acting in defence of liberal values, have today become indelible features of Africa's engagement with the world.

Yet the continent's long, complex historical relationship with Western humanitarian intervention, dating back to the origins of imperial engagement with the continent, is often overlooked in the study of contemporary African security and development issues.

This volume responds to a need for greater historical grounding in the study of humanitarian intervention, by bringing together a wide and interdisciplinary range of contributors who explore the history, theory, and practice of humanitarian intervention in Africa.

Settler Colonialism and Land Rights in South Africa. Possession and Dispossession on the Orange River

Reviews

"This is a highly innovative study of substantial contemporary relevance. In a compelling analysis Cavanagh uses the prism of settler colonialism to compare the Griqua Philippolis and Afrikaner Orania polities, foregrounding issues of dispossession, land rights, sovereignty, indigeneity and restitution. Insightful and accessible, this is a book that will appeal to both academic and lay readers." - Mohamed Adhikari, University of Cape Town

"This book constitutes a significant contribution to the burgeoning field of settler colonial studies. It does so in a very original and persuasive way: applying this paradigm to the analysis of past and present circumstances and to the investigation of developments affecting very different sociopolitical collectives in very different historical circumstances. Settler Colonialism and Land Rights in South Africa convincingly reintroduces settler colonialism to South African history." - Lorenzo Veracini, Swinburne Institute for Social Research

A History of Violence in the Early Algerian Colony

Using newly-discovered documentation from the French military archives, A History of Violence in the Early Algerian Colony offers a comprehensive study of the forms of violence adopted by the French Army in Africa.

Its coverage ranges from detailed case studies of massacres to the question of whether a genocide took place in Algeria.

It begins by asking whether French brutality in Algeria was a consequence of Europeans mirroring a culture of atrocities they believed they would find on 'the Barbary Coast', and goes on to study the manner in which an exterminatory policy was agreed upon by Ministers, generals and soldiers in the campaigns of the 1840s.

Neram N'Dok – Novo documentário IMVF sobre as Ilhas Urok - Guiné-Bissau

Neram N'Dok é uma expressão Bijagó que significa “levem e guardem convosco” e é também o mote do novo documentário produzido pelo IMVF, Tiniguena e FIBA, em parceria com a Universidade de Aveiro, no âmbito do projeto “Urok Osheni! Conservação, desenvolvimento e soberania nas Ilhas Urok”, na Guiné-Bissau.

Com a duração de 40', Neram N'Dok apresenta um olhar particular sobre a Área Marinha Protegida no Arquipélago dos Bijagós, uma área criada e gerida pelas pessoas que nela vivem e um modelo único de governação.

A gestão participativa autónoma assente em regras que permitem a conservação, o desenvolvimento e cultura deste espaço foi, aliás, um elemento decisivo na garantia da qualidade de vida dos seus habitantes num equilíbrio próprio.

The Archives of the Church of Uganda Online | Kept at Uganda Christian University, Mukono

The records in this collection document the history of the Church of the Province of Uganda. Christianity came to Uganda late compared with many other parts of Africa. The first Church Missionary Society missionaries arrived at King Mutesa's court on June 30, 1877. This was seventy-eight years after the founding of the Church Missionary Society in Great Britain.

However, within eight decades, after having passed through much persecution, Uganda had become one of the most successful mission fields in the world. By 1914, through its indigenous teachers and a few European missionaries, nearly the whole of the area today called Uganda had already been evangelized.

In 1961 the growth of the Church of Uganda was recognized in the Anglican Communion with the establishment of the Church of the Province of Uganda, Rwanda-Burundi and Boga-Zaire.

This collection is an important source not only for the history of Christianity in Uganda, but also for the political and social development of the country, both before and after its independence.
